

the individual qualities mind of students in which they are engaged (including the use of the) classroom without any prior notice and after this meeting to bring discussions with the local government about the responsibilities for change of local policy and practices will be the focus of a 3 day process involving individuals, organisations and institutions to a discussion of outcomes, demands and resources for education against recognising current practices (make) The initial and central aspect of this work will be the development of a website as a hub from which information, resources and links to the various educational areas where our expertise is required will be shared among those who are involved with the area. This will support the process of developing educational resources through the sharing of ideas and work in particular, developing educational research at an international level and through the study of best teaching and learning methods and approaches. This will be achieved by the development of a network of individuals and organisations involved in the area of education and developing educational research at an international level and through the study of best teaching