

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script.

Handwritten text in the upper middle section, consisting of several lines of cursive script.

Main body of handwritten text, densely packed and written in a cursive script, covering most of the page.

