

Handwritten text visible along the right edge of the page, likely bleed-through from the reverse side. The text is written in a cursive script and is mostly illegible due to fading and the angle of the page. Some recognizable words or fragments include "The", "of", and "the".

