

ele non esse in esse

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or a related language. The text is dense and appears to be a philosophical or theological treatise. It includes several lines of text, some of which are partially obscured by ink blots or other markings. The script is highly cursive and characteristic of the late Middle Ages.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the previous block. This section contains several lines of text, including some that appear to be headings or section markers. The text is dense and appears to be a philosophical or theological treatise. It includes several lines of text, some of which are partially obscured by ink blots or other markings. The script is highly cursive and characteristic of the late Middle Ages.