

Faint, mostly illegible handwriting at the top of the page, possibly containing a date or header.

Second section of faint handwriting, appearing as several lines of text.

Handwritten text in the right margin, possibly a signature or a note, including the word "Londres".

Third section of faint handwriting, continuing the text from the previous section.

Bottom section of faint handwriting, which is very light and difficult to decipher.