

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is partially obscured by a large, irregular tear on the left side of the page. The visible portion of the text appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a legal or administrative document. The ink is dark and the paper is aged and stained.

A large, stylized signature or initial, possibly a monogram or a decorative flourish, written in the same cursive script as the surrounding text. It is positioned centrally below the main block of text.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, continuing the cursive script. This section appears to be a concluding part of the document, possibly a date, a location, or a final statement. The text is somewhat faded and difficult to decipher due to the age and damage of the manuscript.
