Handwritten notes in the top left corner, partially obscured by a stamp.

Main body of handwritten text, densely packed and written in a cursive script. It appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a contract or a record of a transaction. The text is difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature but seems to contain names of individuals and descriptions of property or goods.
