

MICHAELIS

Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in a historical script, possibly Latin or Italian, covering the majority of the page. The text is written in a cursive hand and is significantly faded and obscured by ink bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

