

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher due to its orientation and fading. Some legible fragments include "1780" and "1781".

Large, faint handwritten signature or name, possibly "John ...", located in the lower half of the page. The ink is very light and the handwriting is cursive.

