

ANNO DE
1682

Handwritten text, likely a legal document or contract, written in a cursive script. The text is oriented vertically on the page. It appears to be a Latin document, possibly a deed or a legal agreement, given the date and the formal nature of the script. The text is somewhat faded and difficult to read in many places due to the age and the handwriting style.

Handwritten signatures and names at the bottom of the page. The most prominent signature is a large, stylized initial, possibly 'D.' or 'D.', followed by a name that is partially obscured. To the right, there are several other signatures and names, including one that appears to be 'H. H. H.' or similar. The text is written in the same cursive script as the main body of the document.
