

Three vertical, wavy lines drawn in brown ink, likely serving as a decorative element or a placeholder for text. The lines are thin and elegant, with a slight curve at the top and bottom. They are positioned in the center of the page, with the middle line being the most prominent and the two outer lines being slightly shorter and more delicate.